

City of Chicago Office of the Inspector General

JOB SPECIFICATION

ORGANIZATION:

On October 15, 2016, the Chicago's City Council passed legislation related to public safety and police accountability.¹ The legislation established a new section dedicated to police and police accountability oversight and review headed by a Deputy Inspector General for Public Safety. The primary goals of the Public Safety section (PS) are to enhance the effectiveness of the Chicago Police Department (CPD), the Civilian Office of Police Accountability (COPA), and the Chicago Police Board; to increase public safety, promote constitutional policing practices that safeguard individual civil liberties and civil rights; and ensure the accountability of the police force, thus building stronger police-community relations. To achieve these goals, PS will provide rigorous, independent, qualitative and quantitative analysis of the CPD, COPA, and the Chicago Police Board through inspections, evaluations and reviews conducted in accordance with the Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspector General issued by the Association of Inspectors General (Green Book), and will make recommendations for improvements and reforms. The PS section is within the City of Chicago Office of Inspector General (OIG). PS will have dedicated a management team constituted of three section chiefs and an associate general counsel, a staff of 17 dedicated performance analysts, audit investigators, and administrative personnel, as well as significant, integrated operational support from OIG's data analytics, legal, and communication and outreach functions.

OIG is one of the nation's premier independent municipal oversight bodies with statutory responsibility to vigorously root out and prevent misconduct, waste, and inefficiency in City operations. OIG oversight functions, including the new PS function, are carried out by a staff of 97 employees with a wide array of professional skills and experience and an annual operating budget of approximately $8.9 million.

OIG's jurisdiction extends to most individuals working for or in connection with City government, including elected and appointed officers of the City and City Council, City employees, licensees, specified sister agencies, and contractors, subcontractors, and business entities seeking to do business with the City of Chicago which enters Fiscal Year 2018 with approximately 36,000 employees, including about 12,500 sworn police officers, and a $10 billion annual budget.
